Prof. Goodenough To Give Annual Winslow Lectures

Yale Professor Of Religious History

Erwin R. Goodenough, Professor of History of Religion at Yale, will deliver the annual Winslow Lectures at 8:30 both Wednesday and Thursday nights at the D.K.E. house.

The Winslow Lectureship was set up to bring to Hamilton speakers who are experts in the field of archaeology, particularly that of the Greco-Roman era. This year's speaker will talk on the study of Judaism in the Hellenistic period.

Goodenough's lectures will concern monuments left by the Jewish sects of the Hellenistic period, and he will interpret the Jewish faith of that time from the material remains left today. He will illustrate his talks with slides of sculpture, mosaics, and monuments made by the people of those Jewish sects.

A member of D.K.E. and Phi Beta Kappa, Goodenough graduated from Hamilton in 1915. After studying at Drew Theological Seminary for a year, he received his S.T.B. degree from the Garrett Bible Institute in 1917. He went on to study at Harvard and Oxford, where he earned his Ph.D. in 1923.

Goodenough then joined the faculty at Yale, teaching history until 1934, when he became Professor of History of Religion, a position he still holds today. While teaching, he received an honorary M.A. from Yale in 1934, a D.D. from Garrett Bible Institute in 1936, and a D.H.L. from Hebrew Union College in 1947.

The editor of the Journal of Biblical Literature from 1934 to 1942, Goodenough has also written several books concerning religion, patricularly Judaism in the Hellenistic period of culture.

Clarence Nixon Receives Award

Clarence Nixon, visiting lecturer in Political Science has been chosen as "Southerner of the Year" by the Mississippi Council for Christian Action.

Nixon, who came to the Hill this fall from Vanderbilt University, is the author of several books on the South. He recently wrote a letter to the New York Times which was printed in full in the Sunday, February 12 issue.

In his letter, Nixon asked for greater understanding in the North of the South's position. He noted the loss of productive population in several Southern states and said this left "an unbalanced population to wrestle with an unbalanced economy, frequently without success.'

Nixon also considered the problem of lack of urban representation in the South. This has led, he said, to a continuation of the rural domination which favors segregation.

Social Conduct Rules

The following is the final text of the regulations governing social behavior adopted by the IFC at their meeting Monday. Having been adopted by the IFC, the rules are binding for the entire student body.

PREAMBLE

We, the Interfraternity Council of Hamilton College, have adopted the following regulations in what we believe to be the best interests of the guests, students and administration of the College. We do not believe that these rules will serve as a panacea for all problems that now exist in our social structure, but we do feel that they can be a guide to the type of conduct that is necessary. We wish to encourage proper social activity and we feel that effective student leadership and fraternity action is necessary to produce the type of social functions of which we can all be proud. The Interfraternity Council will enforce these regulations in the areas listed below because we believe they are an important addition to the conduct of social life of the College. These regulations alone will not solve the problem. Proper thought and action by the entire student body is the answer. These regulations, however, should serve as an effective guide.

ARTICLE I — Drinking

a. The Interfraternity Council endorses the College rules on drinking as stated in the Student Handbook. We believe these rules are satisfactory and if observed will be effective.

b. After asking conduct becoming of gentlemen at all times, these rules prohibit the misuse of alcohol and prohibit its consumption at any public function of the College.

c. We believe that fraternities have a group responsibility and therefore any fraternity which encourages or condones the misuse of alcohol renders itself liable to Interfraternity Council discipline.

ARTICLE II — House Parties

a. The Interfraternity Council endorses the house party procedure as stated in the Student Handbook.

b. These regulations provide that there shall not be more than three house party weekends during the college year, one in the first semester, two in the second. The dates are to be approved by the faculty. Such weekends are to extend only from Friday through Sunday.

c. Proper chaperones, approved in advance by the Dean, must be secured by each fraternity.

ARTICLE III — Housing

a. Men and women will not be housed in the same building at any time.

b. When dates are housed in a fraternity, men are strictly forbidden to enter areas reserved as sleeping quarters for the dates. When dates are not housed in a fraternity, they are strictly forbidden to enter areas used as student sleeping quarters.

Under special conditions these rules on restricted areas may be modified, but only with the written permission of the Dean.

ARTICLE IV — Hours

a. At all times other than the three recognized house party weekends, women may not remain in fraternity houses during the following hours:

Sunday-Thursday — 12 P.M. to 8 A.M.
Friday — 2 A.M. to 8 A.M. (Saturday morning)
Saturday — 3 A.M. to 8 A.M. (Sunday morning)

b. It shall be the responsibility of the fraternities to see that this regulation is strictly observed.

ARTICLE V — Special Saturday Parties

a. There may be three additional Saturday nights during the first semester and two additional Saturday nights during the second semester when women may be housed in the fraternities. The hours stated in Article IV will apply on these occasions.

b. Permission for these Saturday nights will be granted by

Joint Committee of Student Council, IFC to Revise "Senate" Constitution

The Joint Committee of the Student and Interfraternity Councils announced yesterday that it plans considerable revision of its proposed constitution for a Student Senate before presenting the constitution for a vote.

The decision of the committee came after meeting with the Student and Interfraternity Councils at which numerous suggestions and criticisms of the proposal were made. "We sincerely welcome the comments that both councils have made, and are endeavoring to improve the proposals before preparing a final draft," the committee stated. The committee is composed of Paul Carter, 56, and Rod Cooke, '56, from the Interfraternity Council, and Jerry Van Dijk, '57, and Bob Connor, '56, from the Student Council.

The committee did not announce any date for a vote on their proposals. Apparently, however, the committee no longer hopes to have the Senate in operation this Spring. Although the committee declined to make a specific statement, the proposed Senate will probably be voted on by both Councils and the Student Body sometime late in the Spring.

On February 19 the four man committee discussed their constitution with the Student Council. The Council seemed generally favorable to the idea, although numerous suggestions were made for improvements. These suggestions included modifications of the election procedure, elimination of the provision for the nomination of the President of the Senate by the old Senate, the insertion of a section on impeachment, and provisions for fuller representation of the freshman class.

At a meeting last Monday with the IFC the committee's proposals were strenuously attacked. The IFC did not seem favorable to the proposal. Various members advanced the following arguments against it.

1. There is no close connection between fraternity problems and college problems to justify such a merger.

2 The present IFC has been built to a peak of efficiency. What weaknesses there are present in the student government are entirely the fault of the Student Council.

3. A single fraternity or a group of two or three top fraternities would control all student government under the plan. Several members of the Council attacked the provisions for at-large campus representation on the Senate. This would lead, they contended, to a few houses having all of the representatives and imposing their will on the other fraternities. This was the major objection of the IFC.

In defending their proposals the committee pointed out that there was a close tie up between college and fraternity problems, that this tie up would become closer as the college approached expansion, that it was unlikely that one or two fraternities would ever dominate the Senate, that the student body was capable of choosing unbiased representatives for the Senate, and that the new constitution would increase the efficiency of student government.

French Diplomat Defines, Defends African Policy

French Promise Independence

Andre Nemo, head of the African Section of the French Section of the French Embassy in New York City, defended the position that "French policy in North Africa is not colonial" last Monday night. Nemo spoke to a combined meeting of the International Relations and French Clubs at Emerson Literary Society.

Nemo defined a colonial policy as "political domination by one country over another country for the express economic benefit of the dominating country." As an example of French achievement in North Africa with public funds, Nemo cited the construction of some forty dams for electric power and irrigation purposes in Morocco, Tunisia, and Algeria. Nemo added that conditions have not deteriorated in North Africa; the standard of living went up even for Moslems.

Futhermore, Nemo asserted, North Africa is costing France more than the profit she gets from the three countries, and that the two million Europeans account for over one-half of the local taxes, as well as one-half of the gross national product. Two budgets are prepared for the North African area: one a long range budget, paid by metropolitan France, for the economic development of the area, the other a local budget, paid by the residents, for ordinary expenses.

Declaring that "only one-twentieth of the land in the three countries is productive," Nemo went on to say that "Moslems own 60% of the arable land in Algeria, 80% in Tunisia, and over 90% in Morocco. Not all Europeans are land-owners." Nemo further stated that in places where the Europeans do own the best land, it is a result of their own efforts to develop the land into productive areas.

"Progress is difficult in North Africa," Nemo asserted, "because of the cultural backgrounds. Often Moslem customs slow economic development." Nemo added that a strong theocratic remainder of the Middle Ages is prevalent in North Africa and warned against religious fanaticism used for political ends. He acknowledged French mistakes in North Africa due to poor evaluation of problems.

College Secretary Of AFSC Due Here Thursday

Ray Arvio, College Secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, will be in the Baker Memorial Room from 9 to 12 Thursday, March 15 to talk with men interested in international work camps and seminars, and programs for college men in this country as well.

Any student wishing an appointment with Arvio should contact Channing B. Richardson assistant professor of Political Science.

Annually the AFSC sponsors work camps throughout Europe and Japan. These camps provide an oppourtunity for American young people to assist needy Europeans in construction and other manual labor. The cost of an European work camp is about $500 and it lasts for about 2 months in the summer. Last year Bob Moses, '56, visited three of these work camps.

The AFSC also sponsors work camps in Japan and Mexico together with student seminars abroad and service activities in the United States. A limited amount of scholarship assistance is available for interested students.

Anglican Society To Sponsor Talk

The Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, Episcopal bishop of the Diocese of Central New York, will address the Anglican Society Monday, March 5, at 8 p.m. at Psi Upsilon. His subject will be Christian Marriage.

The speaker was graduated from Harvard and attended Trinity College Cambridge, England, before receiving his training for holy orders at Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. He holds a doctorate of divinity from Hamilton and other honorary degrees.

Bishop Peabody taught in a boy's school in the Philippines and served as curate and priest-in-charge of churches in Lawrence, Mass. and Chestnut Hill, Pa. He was consecrated as bishop of the Diocese of Central New York in 1938 and in 1942 became the bishop of the diocese. Bishop Peabody was a member of the National Council of the Episcopal Church from 1938 to 1948.

Carnival Nets Block H Club $217.50 Hope To Buy Football Scoreboard

A successful Winter Carnival weekend netted the Block H club $217.50 profit, President Peter Eckel announced this last week. The Winter Carnival money gives the Block H Club a clear profit of $516.03 for the year. The organization hopes to make close to $1,100 this year in order to purchase a new scoreboard for the football field.

Part of the fund raising campaign will continue this weekend when the hockey team plays an exhibition game with the Utica Mohawks at 4:00. A 2:30 Pee Wee game has been tentatively scheduled. All spectators will be charged for this benefit game with adults paying a $.50 admission and all students .25. It is hoped that a large crowd will be on hand for the contest.

Further plans for fund raising include plans for a large concession in the spring at both houseparty and at the New York State Athletic Conference Track meet that is to be held here in the spring. Money from Block H club dues and from Alumni donations are expected to swell the profits toward the

College Hoopsters Break 2 Records During Last Week

9 Wins, 125 Points Are Pacesetters

The Hamilton basketball team smashed two records and have a chance to set another when they face Clarkson tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the Alumni Gymnasium in the season's final game.

Wednesday night the team won their ninth game against five loses beating Union on their home court, 78-75. Hamilton had scored eight victories in a season only twice before this year.

Saturday night 125 points rung up a new high game score against Harpur's 58 points

Wednesday's decision was the fourth straight of the season for the Blue and the second consecutive win over the Dutchmen this year; however, it was a close contest throughout. Hamilton managed to build up a slim lead in the opening stanzas and maintained a 41-38 advantage at the mid-point.

In the second half, Union fought back and tied the score in the last few minutes of play 73-73. Frank O'Brien then put the Clintonians ahead with a goal from the floor, and Pete Eckel added a charity toss. Conway tallied for Union putting the home team within one point of the Hamiltonians. However, Eckel clinched the game with two free throws with only seconds to play.

John Glezen was high man for the visitors with 26 points, while Pete Eckel netted 24. Lawson and Cole had 24 and 23 points respectively for Union

Last weekend before a Winter Carnival crowd, the Buff and Blue squad broke the all-time Hamilton scoring record with a 125-58 victory over hapless Harpur College.

The starting five played only the first few minutes of each half, as the Blue, led by Peter Eckel, scored 41 points in the first ten minutes of the contest.

The College scoring record was broken in the final six minutes of the contest on two foul shots by substitute forward Al Olson. His first tied the scoring record of 95 and his second broke the mark. The fastbreak team of John Driscoll and Rick Purple ran up the score in the last few minutes.

Hockey Team Faces Tough Middlebury Sextet In Final Game Tomorrow Night

The tough Middlebury Panthers will battle Hamilton's Continentals in the season's hockey finale at the Sage Rink tomorrow evening at 8:30. The Vermonters, with a 17-15 edge in total competition, will be slightly favored, but the up-and-down Continentals are capable of pulling off an upset.

Last year the Hillmen beat Middlebury 3-1 after suffering a 5-2 defeat earlier in the season. Earlier this year Middlebury trounced Hamilton 9-2. However, that loss was during the depth of Hill fortunes, which seem to have risen considerably since that time.

The Continentals will enter the last game with a record of 6-8, the best mark since 1951-52. After losing four of their first five games, they have taken five out of the last nine and looked good in losing to such teams as Queens and St. Lawrence.

The highlight of the past two weeks hockey activity, which saw the Continentals win one and lose two, was Bill Scoones' five-goal performance against Williams Wednesday night Playing some of their best hockey of the year, the Hillmen inflicted a 7-3 defeat on Williams, atoning for a 7-3 setback at Williamstown earlier this season.

The Ephmen tallied at 8:35 of the first period, but Scoones scored three successive goals to give Hamilton a 3-1 margin at the end of the stanza. Scoones got his fourth goal in succession to open up the second period, but a Williams tally held the margin to 4-2.

In the opening minutes of the third period Pickering and Flood traded goals to bring the score to 5-3. At 18:30, with Hamilton down a man, Dan Koehler made a solo goal on a dash from center ice. With the Continentals still a man short Scoones tallied the final goal on an assist from Bob Regan at 19:45.

b. The Interfraternity Council will determine whether the violation is under its jurisdiction or under that of the College administration and will act accordingly.

ARTICLE VII — Penalty

a. The Interfraternity Council will fine fraternities violating these regulations not less than $25 and it also may place offending fraternities on social probation.

b. A two-third vote of the Council shall be necessary to impose a fine and/or special probation on a fraternity.

c. Any fine must be paid within thirty days or the fraternity will be placed on social probation until the fine is paid.

ARTICLE VIII — Adoption

a. These rules are declared in effect as of March 5, 1956 and all fraternities are hereby so notified.

b. These rules are to remain in effect until such time as they are modified by appropriate action.

c. It shall be the responsibility of the Interfraternity Council to notify the fraternities of any changes in these regulations.

Hockey...

Appearing sluggish and unable to get started, the Continentals dropped a 5-1 decision to Army at the Winter Carnival attraction. Hamilton severely felt the loss of ace defenseman Doug Chapman, who received a match misconduct penalty along with Army's Mike Harvey at 10:39 of the first period for fighting.

The Cadets had a 3-0 lead before Scoones got a solo at 8:22 of the final period. However, the Blue attack was broken up by a penalty, and Army scored twice in the next four minutes to clinch the game.

St. Lawrences' speed and experience proved too much for the Hillmen, although the latter played gamely all the way and forced the Larry goal tender to make 30 saves, several of them of the spectacular variety. The Blues were never able to put on any concentrated pressure, as the strong St. Lawrence defense broke up repeated Hamilton drives. Hamilton lost 7-0.

The up-staters got four goals in the second periodl after being held to two in the first by the determined Hamilton defense, sparked by goalie Don Spencer. The Larries tallied once more in the final period to end the game at 7-0.
